

1 Chronicles 5:16

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And they dwelt in Gilead in Bashan, and in her towns, and in all the suburbs of Sharon, upon their borders.

Analysis

And they dwelt in Gilead in Bashan, and in her towns, and in all the suburbs of Sharon, upon their borders—this verse maps Gadite territory east of Jordan: גִּלְעָד (Gilead, 'heap of testimony') signified the covenant boundary between Jacob and Laban (Genesis 31:47-48), while בָּשָׁן (Bashan) denoted fertile highlands famous for cattle and oaks. שָׂרֹן (Sharon) here differs from coastal Sharon, referring to Transjordan pasturelands.

The territorial description emphasizes borders and suburbs (מִגְרָשֵׁיהֶן, migrasheihen, 'pasture lands'), showing tribal inheritance included both settlements and grazing lands. God's land promises weren't abstract but concrete—specific territories for specific tribes. The Transjordanian tribes' choice to settle east of Jordan (Numbers 32) required Moses' conditional approval: they must fight alongside their brothers before enjoying inheritance. Privilege always accompanies responsibility in covenant relationship.

Historical Context

Gilead and Bashan, conquered under Moses (Numbers 21:21-35) and distributed to Reuben, Gad, and half-tribe Manasseh, provided rich pasturelands ideal for livestock. Their exposed position made them vulnerable to foreign invasion, suffering first in Assyrian deportations (734-732 BC). The territories' fertility made them contested throughout Old Testament period.
