

1 Corinthians 11:30

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

For this cause many are weak and sickly among you, and many sleep.

Analysis

For this cause many are weak and sickly among you, and many sleep— Shocking assertion: divine judgment for Table abuse manifested physically. Διὰ τοῦτο (for this cause) links directly to unworthy eating (vv. 27-29). Πολλοὶ ἀσθενεῖς καὶ ἀρρωστοὶ (many weak and sickly)—physical illness, not spiritual weakness. Κοιμῶνται (sleep) is euphemism for death (John 11:11-14, 1 Thessalonians 4:13-15).

Paul connects sin with sickness and death—a controversial link. Not all sickness is judgment (John 9:3), but some is (Acts 5:1-11, Ananias and Sapphira; Acts 13:11, Elymas struck blind). The Corinthians' flagrant abuse of the Table—dividing the body, despising the poor, profaning Christ's sacrifice—brought covenantal judgment. This echoes Old Testament warnings about covenant violation (Deuteronomy 28:15-68). Yet the judgment is disciplinary ('chastened,' v. 32), not retributive—God disciplines His children to prevent final condemnation.

Historical Context

Ancient readers wouldn't have been shocked by this connection. Greco-Roman religion featured divine retribution for cultic violations. Jewish theology connected covenant faithfulness with health/prosperity and covenant violation with sickness/death (Deuteronomy 28). Paul presents Christian version: the Table is covenant meal; abusing it brings covenant curses (temporal judgment). Early Christians took this seriously—church discipline included excommunication (removal from Table) to prevent judgment and restore sinners (1 Corinthians 5:5).
