

1 Corinthians 12:31

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

But covet earnestly the best gifts: and yet shew I unto you a more excellent way.

Analysis

But covet earnestly the best gifts—Zēloute de ta charismata ta meizona (ζηλοῦτε δὲ τὰ χαρίσματα τὰ μείζονα)—zēloute can be translated "earnestly desire" or "zealously seek." Meizona ("greater") suggests a hierarchy, though context clarifies: "greater" means more beneficial to the body's edification, not intrinsically superior. Prophecy is "greater" than uninterpreted tongues because it builds up the church (14:5). This isn't about personal spiritual status but corporate benefit.

And yet shew I unto you a more excellent way—Kai eti kath' hyperbolēn hodon hymin deiknymi ("and yet a still more excellent way I show you")—kath' hyperbolēn means "beyond measure, surpassing, exceedingly." The "more excellent way" is agapē (love), expounded in chapter 13. Love transcends all gifts—without it, prophecy, tongues, knowledge, and miracles are worthless (13:1-3). This verse bridges chapters 12 and 13, preparing the transition: gifts matter, but love matters infinitely more. Pursue edifying gifts zealously, yes—but pursue love supremely.

Historical Context

This transitional verse climaxes Paul's gift-teaching and launches into the love-chapter. The Corinthians needed correction on two fronts: wrong gifts pursued (tongues over prophecy) and wrong motivation (self-display over love). Chapters 12-14 form a unit: gifts' source (12), gifts' motive (13), gifts' use (14).

Study Questions

1. How does 'covet earnestly the best gifts' square with earlier teaching that the Spirit distributes 'as He wills' (v.11)?
2. What are the 'best gifts' for your church's context—which gifts would most edify your body?
3. How does the 'more excellent way' of love transform how you view and exercise spiritual gifts?
