

1 Corinthians 14:35

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And if they will learn any thing, let them ask their husbands at home: for it is a shame for women to speak in the church.

Analysis

And if they will learn any thing, let them ask their husbands at home— Greek ei de ti mathein thelousin, en oikō tous idious andras eperōtatōsan (εἰ δέ τι μαθεῖν θέλουσιν, ἐν οἴκῳ τοὺς ἰδίους ἄνδρας ἐπερωτάτωσαν, "if they wish to learn something, let them ask their own husbands at home"). This clarifies verse 34: the issue is learning/questioning behavior, not prophecy or teaching. For it is a shame for women to speak in the church (aischron gar estin gynaiki lalein en ekklēsia, αἰσχρὸν γὰρ ἐστὶν γυναικὶ λαλεῖν ἐν ἐκκλησίᾳ, "for it is shameful for a woman to speak in church").

The "shame" language reflects cultural sensitivity: in Greco-Roman culture, women publicly questioning men was scandalous. Paul applies the order principle (vv. 26-33, 40) to a culturally volatile situation. The solution—"ask at home"—suggests the issue is inappropriate public interrogation during worship, not all female participation. This interpretation coheres with Paul's affirmation of women's ministry elsewhere (Rom 16:1-7, Phil 4:2-3).

Historical Context

Greco-Roman honor-shame culture viewed outspoken women as shameful. New female believers, learning Scripture for the first time, may have disrupted worship with questions. Paul channels learning into appropriate contexts without suppressing women's ministry.

Study Questions

1. How does the 'ask your husbands at home' command clarify what Paul is prohibiting?
2. What cultural factors might make certain behaviors 'shameful' in one context but not another?
3. How do we apply culturally conditioned commands in different cultural settings?
