

1 Corinthians 15:25

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

For he must reign, till he hath put all enemies under his feet.

Analysis

For he must reign (δεῖ γὰρ αὐτὸν βασιλεύειν)—The verb dei (δεῖ, "it is necessary, must") indicates divine necessity, not mere possibility. Christ's reign is God's ordained plan, fulfilling Davidic covenant (2 Samuel 7:12-16). The present infinitive basileuein (βασιλεύειν, "to reign") indicates ongoing royal authority.

Till he hath put all enemies under his feet (ἄχρι οὗ θῇ πάντας τοὺς ἐχθροὺς ὑπὸ τοὺς πόδας αὐτοῦ)—This quotes Psalm 110:1, the Old Testament's most-cited text in the New Testament. The imagery of enemies hypo tous podas ("under the feet") depicts ancient Near Eastern victory ceremonies where conquered kings were literally placed under the victor's feet (Joshua 10:24). Christ's session at the Father's right hand (Hebrews 1:3, 10:12-13) is active reign, progressively subduing enemies until final victory.

Historical Context

Psalm 110:1 was understood messianically in Second Temple Judaism. Jesus cited it to prove Messiah's divinity (Matthew 22:41-45). Early Christians saw Christ's ascension as enthronement, inaugurating his conquering reign. This verse grounds Christian confidence in history's direction—Christ is subduing all opposition, and will not stop until victory is complete.

Study Questions

1. What does it mean that Christ 'must' reign—how does this divine necessity give Christians confidence?
2. Who or what are the 'enemies' Christ is currently subduing during his reign?
3. How should Christ's active reign shape Christian engagement with culture and society?
