

1 Peter 4:5

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Who shall give account to him that is ready to judge the quick and the dead.

Analysis

Peter warns of coming judgment. "Who shall give account to him that is ready to judge the quick and the dead" (hoi apodōsousin logon tō hetoimōs echonti krinai zōntas kai nekrous). Those mocking Christians will "give account" (apodōsousin logon)—answer to God for their lives. God "is ready to judge" (hetoimōs echonti krinai)—prepared, about to judge. "Quick and dead" (zōntas kai nekrous)—living and dead, all humanity. This sobering truth: mockers face judgment before impartial God who evaluates all. Their current ridicule won't exempt them from divine accountability. This assures persecuted believers: apparent triumph of wicked is temporary; God will judge justly.

Historical Context

Early Christians facing mockery, persecution, martyrdom needed assurance that justice would prevail. Peter promises: those currently oppressing believers will answer to God. This echoes apostolic teaching throughout New Testament—universal judgment coming (Acts 17:31, Romans 2:16, 2 Timothy 4:1). The phrase "ready to judge" indicates imminence—judgment could come anytime through death or Christ's return. Early church's eschatological urgency stemmed from believing Christ's return imminent. This motivated evangelism (warn mockers of coming judgment) and endurance (vindication approaching). Modern application: unbelievers' mockery doesn't invalidate Christianity; they'll face judgment proving God's reality.
