

1 Samuel 1:17

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Then Eli answered and said, Go in peace: and the God of Israel grant thee thy petition that thou hast asked of him.

Analysis

Eli's response shifts dramatically from rebuke to blessing. His words 'Go in peace' invoke the fullness of Hebrew shalom - not merely absence of conflict but complete well-being. His petition that 'the God of Israel grant thy petition' acknowledges that only God can fulfill her request. Ironically, Eli pronounces blessing on the prayer he neither heard nor understood. Despite his failures, Eli remains God's priest, and his blessing carries spiritual authority. God graciously uses imperfect instruments to accomplish His purposes.

Historical Context

The priestly blessing formula echoes elements of the Aaronic benediction (Numbers 6:24-26). The priest's role as intermediary between God and worshipers remained operative even when the priest's personal discernment failed.

1. How can God use even flawed spiritual leaders to channel genuine blessing?
2. What does Eli's blessing, given without knowing its content, teach about faith in God's sovereignty?
