

1 Samuel 14:10

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

But if they say thus, Come up unto us; then we will go up: for the LORD hath delivered them into our hand: and this shall be a sign unto us.

Analysis

But if they say thus, Come up unto us; then we will go up: for the LORD hath delivered them into our hand: and this shall be a sign unto us.

The confirming sign - 'Come up unto us' - is interpreted as divine guarantee: 'the LORD hath delivered them into our hand.' The Philistine challenge, humanly a tactical advantage (forcing attackers to climb toward defended positions), becomes Jonathan's assurance of victory. What appears as greater danger ('we will go up') is received as certain success. Faith transforms apparent disadvantage into confirmed opportunity. Jonathan's confidence is not in his climbing ability but in divine deliverance.

Historical Context

Military advantage in ancient warfare typically belonged to defenders on high ground. The Philistines' invitation to 'come up' would normally ensure their tactical superiority. Jonathan's faith reinterprets this tactical situation through theological lens.
