

1 Samuel 14:45

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And the people said unto Saul, Shall Jonathan die, who hath wrought this great salvation in Israel? God forbid: as the LORD liveth, there shall not one hair of his head fall to the ground; for he hath wrought with God this day. So the people rescued Jonathan, that he died not.

Analysis

And the people said unto Saul, Shall Jonathan die, who hath wrought this great salvation in Israel? God forbid: as the LORD liveth, there shall not one hair of his head fall to the ground; for he hath wrought with God this day. So the people rescued Jonathan, that he died not.

The people's intervention - 'Shall Jonathan die, who hath wrought this great salvation in Israel?' - saves Jonathan through corporate resistance to royal folly. Their oath 'as the LORD liveth, there shall not one hair of his head fall to the ground' opposes Saul's oath with counterforce. Their reasoning is theological: 'he hath wrought with God this day.' The people recognize what Saul cannot: God worked through Jonathan to save Israel. Executing him would fight against God. 'So the people rescued Jonathan, that he died not.'

Historical Context

Popular intervention in royal justice occurred elsewhere in the ancient Near East. The people's oath creates an impasse resolved in Jonathan's favor. Saul's inability to enforce his verdict demonstrates the limits of his authority when opposed by united public opinion.
