

1 Samuel 2:24

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Nay, my sons; for it is no good report that I hear: ye make the LORD'S people to transgress.

Analysis

Eli's continued appeal shows concern but inadequate response. His statement 'it is no good report that I hear' focuses on what people are saying. The phrase 'ye make the LORD'S people to transgress' identifies a crucial dynamic: corrupt leadership causes followers to sin. The Hebrew ta'avrim (cause to cross over, transgress) makes the priests responsible not only for their own sin but for others' stumbling. Leadership multiplication works both ways - godly leaders multiply righteousness; wicked leaders multiply wickedness.

Historical Context

The principle that leaders bear responsibility for followers' sins appears throughout Scripture. Jesus warns that causing 'little ones' to stumble merits severe judgment (Matthew 18:6). Paul identifies this as a reason why elder qualifications are so rigorous (1 Timothy 3:1-7).
