

1 Samuel 2:34

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And this shall be a sign unto thee, that shall come upon thy two sons, on Hophni and Phinehas; in one day they shall die both of them.

Analysis

A confirming sign seals the prophecy: Hophni and Phinehas will die on the same day. This near-term fulfillment validates the entire prophetic message. When the sign comes true (chapter 4), Eli can know the extended prophecy will also be fulfilled. The doubling of death - both sons together - emphasizes divine judgment rather than coincidence. Signs in prophetic literature serve to authenticate the prophet's message and call the hearers to response. Eli's response will determine his personal standing before God.

Historical Context

Prophetic signs often involved near-term fulfillments that confirmed longer-term prophecies. Isaiah offered Ahaz a similar confirming sign (Isaiah 7:14). The literary pattern of announcing judgment with immediate verification appears throughout prophetic literature.
