

1 Samuel 25:19

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And she said unto her servants, Go on before me; behold, I come after you. But she told not her husband Nabal.

Analysis

And she said unto her servants, Go on before me; behold, I come after you. But she told not her husband Nabal.

Abigail's tactical approach continues her wisdom. Sending servants ahead with provisions allowed time for gifts to create favorable impression before her personal appeal. The Hebrew 'hinnenî' (behold I) indicates she would follow shortly. The crucial detail—'she told not her husband Nabal'—reveals her assessment that informing him would only make matters worse. This action, bypassing her husband's authority in emergency, has occasioned much discussion. Given Nabal's characterization as a fool who 'cannot be spoken to,' Abigail's independent action represents wisdom responding to emergency rather than rebellious defiance. She saved her household when her husband's foolishness endangered it.

Historical Context

Ancient Near Eastern households expected wifely submission, but Abigail's action falls within recognized exceptions for preventing household disaster. Her silence toward Nabal reflects the servant's assessment that speaking to him was impossible. She acted to save, not to subvert.
