

1 Samuel 28:7

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Then said Saul unto his servants, Seek me a woman that hath a familiar spirit, that I may go to her, and enquire of her. And his servants said to him, Behold, there is a woman that hath a familiar spirit at En-dor.

Analysis

Saul's command to seek a medium (Hebrew: 'eshet ba'alat-ov,' a woman possessing a spirit) represents his ultimate spiritual betrayal. Having enforced God's law against such practices, he now desperately violates it himself. The location 'En-dor' (spring of the dwelling) places the medium in Issachar's territory, requiring Saul to travel past enemy lines. The servants' ready knowledge of her location suggests the purge of mediums was incomplete or that such practices persisted secretly.

Historical Context

Necromancy and spirit consultation were common throughout the ancient Near East but explicitly forbidden in Israel (Leviticus 19:31, 20:6, 27; Deuteronomy 18:10-11). The survival of practitioners despite royal prohibition indicates either incomplete enforcement or persistent popular demand.
