

1 Samuel 3:19

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And Samuel grew, and the LORD was with him, and did let none of his words fall to the ground.

Analysis

Samuel's growth now takes on prophetic dimensions: 'the LORD was with him, and did let none of his words fall to the ground.' The phrase indicates that everything Samuel prophesied came true - a key test of prophetic authenticity (Deuteronomy 18:22). The LORD's presence 'with him' contrasts with the departed glory that will mark Eli's house. Samuel's words are effective because God's Spirit empowers them. The boy who did not know the LORD now speaks words that the LORD consistently fulfills.

Historical Context

The test of prophetic authenticity in Deuteronomy 18:21-22 requires that prophecies come true. The phrase 'words falling to the ground' pictures failed prophecies collapsing without effect. Samuel's words stand and accomplish their purpose.
