

1 Samuel 30:20

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And David took all the flocks and the herds, which they drave before those other cattle, and said, This is David's spoil.

Analysis

The additional spoil beyond what the Amalekites had stolen represents the increase from David's victory. The phrase 'This is David's spoil' may indicate his men's acclaim or an official distribution designation. This surplus, plundered from the Amalekites themselves, provided resources David would strategically distribute. What began as devastating loss concludes with net gain. God's restoration not only recovers what was lost but adds blessing beyond the original state.

Historical Context

Warriors traditionally received spoil proportional to their participation in victory. David's personal portion would have been substantial as commander, providing resources for the political gifts described in verses 26-31.
