

1 Timothy 6:19

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life.

Analysis

Laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come (ἀποθησαυρίζοντας ἑαυτοῖς θεμέλιον καλὸν εἰς τὸ μέλλον, apothēsaúrizontas heautois themelion kalon eis to mellon)—'storing up for themselves a good foundation for the future.' Apothēsaúrizō means to treasure up, store away. Themelion means foundation. Mellon means what is coming, the future—here, eternity.

That they may lay hold on eternal life (ἵνα ἐπιλάβωνται τῆς ὄντως ζωῆς, hina epilabōntai tēs ontōs zōēs)—'so that they may take hold of that which is truly life.' Epilambanomai means to grasp, seize, take hold of. Ontōs means really, truly, actually. Eternal life is the only real life—present life is shadow.

Generous giving is eternal investment—laying up treasures in heaven (Matthew 6:19-21). Earthly wealth doesn't transfer to eternity, but generosity does—it builds eternal foundation. The wealthy who give generously now experience 'life indeed'—both abundant life now and eternal reward later. This isn't earning salvation but wise stewardship producing eternal fruit.

Historical Context

Jesus taught storing treasures in heaven, not earth (Matthew 6:19-21). Paul applies this: generous giving builds eternal foundation. Ancient believers understood investing for future return—Paul spiritualizes it: invest earthly wealth in eternal realities through generosity. The wealthy who give sacrificially discover true life—joy, purpose, eternal reward—that wealth alone can never provide.
