

2 Chronicles 26:5

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And he sought God in the days of Zechariah, who had understanding in the visions of God: and as long as he sought the LORD, God made him to prosper.

Analysis

King Uzziah's spiritual success is attributed to seeking God: 'And he sought God in the days of Zechariah, who had understanding in the visions of God: and as long as he sought the LORD, God made him to prosper.' The temporal limitation 'in the days of Zechariah' and 'as long as' foreshadows Uzziah's later downfall (26:16-21). Seeking God (darash Elohim) combined with godly mentorship (Zechariah's instruction) produced prosperity. This demonstrates that spiritual success requires both personal initiative and wise counsel. Tragically, Uzziah's prosperity bred pride, showing that success can be spiritually dangerous. This warns that past faithfulness doesn't guarantee future obedience.

Historical Context

Uzziah reigned 52 years (c. 790-738 BCE), one of Judah's longest reigns. His earlier military and economic successes (26:6-15) came through seeking God, but later pride led to his striking with leprosy when he usurped priestly functions.
