

2 Chronicles 5:14

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

So that the priests could not stand to minister by reason of the cloud: for the glory of the LORD had filled the house of God.

Analysis

The climax of temple dedication: 'So that the priests could not stand to minister by reason of the cloud: for the glory of the LORD had filled the house of God.' The divine glory (kavod YHWH) so overwhelmed the space that priests couldn't function. This manifestation validated the temple as God's dwelling place, echoing the tabernacle's dedication (Exodus 40:34-35). The inability to minister shows that divine presence transcends human activity - God's glory isn't produced by ritual but sovereignly given. This anticipates the greater glory when God's fullness dwells bodily in Christ (Colossians 2:9) and through the Spirit in believers corporately (1 Corinthians 3:16).

Historical Context

This dramatic moment (c. 960 BCE) marked Israel's worship reaching its zenith. The Shekinah glory's visible manifestation, though eventually departing due to sin (Ezekiel 10), established the temple's legitimacy and shaped Israel's theology of divine presence for centuries.
