

2 Corinthians 11:10

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

As the truth of Christ is in me, no man shall stop me of this boasting in the regions of Achaia.

Analysis

As the truth of Christ is in me, no man shall stop me of this boasting in the regions of Achaia. Paul swears an oath with ultimate solemnity: estin alētheia Christou en emoi (ἔστιν ἀλήθεια Χριστοῦ ἐν ἐμοί, 'the truth of Christ is in me'). This genitive can mean truth about Christ, truth from Christ, or Christ's own truthfulness residing in Paul—likely all three. He stakes his apostolic integrity on this vow.

The future passive phragēsetai (φραγήσεται, 'shall be stopped/blocked') is emphatic—nothing will silence this particular boast. This boasting (kauchēsis hautē, καύχησις αὕτη) refers specifically to offering the gospel freely without charge. Regions of Achaia (southern Greece, including Corinth) specifies the geographical scope—Paul will maintain his policy throughout the province.

Why this fierce determination? Because free gospel proclamation embodied the message itself: God's grace cannot be purchased. False apostles who demanded payment contradicted the gospel with their methodology. Paul's refusal to accept support became a living sermon on grace and prevented his message from being discredited.

Historical Context

Achaia was the Roman senatorial province comprising southern Greece with Corinth as its capital. Paul's determination to maintain financial independence throughout this region suggests the false teachers' influence extended beyond Corinth to other Achaian churches, requiring consistent witness through Paul's support policy.
