

2 Thessalonians 1:2

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Grace unto you, and peace, from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Analysis

Grace unto you, and peace, from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ—Paul's standard greeting carries profound theology. Charis (χάρις, grace) is God's unmerited favor, the foundation of salvation and perseverance. Eirēnē (εἰρήνη, peace) is the Hebrew shalom—total well-being, reconciliation with God, and the end of enmity.

These gifts flow from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ, a single prepositional phrase indicating one divine source. The Thessalonians, enduring severe persecution (v. 4), desperately needed both grace to stand firm and peace amid turmoil. Paul will show that Christ's return brings ultimate justice and vindication for the suffering faithful.

Historical Context

The Thessalonian church, composed of converted Gentiles and Jews, faced hostility from both pagan neighbors and the Jewish community. Roman imperial pressure and local mob violence (Acts 17:5-9) created an atmosphere of fear. Paul's words provided divine comfort in a hostile environment.
