

2 Thessalonians 2:17

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Comfort your hearts, and stablish you in every good word and work.

Analysis

Comfort your hearts, and stablish you in every good word and work—Paul prays for two results: comfort your hearts (parakalesai hymas tas kardias, παρακαλέσαι ὑμᾶς τὰς καρδίας, encourage your inner person) and stablish you (stērixai, στηρίζαι, fix firmly, establish). The sphere: every good word and work (panti ergō kai logō agathō, παντὶ ἔργῳ καὶ λόγῳ ἀγαθῷ).

Stability isn't passive but manifests in active righteousness—both speech (word) and conduct (work). God's comfort energizes obedience rather than producing passivity. Eschatological hope doesn't lead to escapism but ethical transformation. Those confident of glorification work most diligently now.

Historical Context

Some Thessalonians stopped working, claiming Christ's return was imminent (3:6-12). Paul counters: hope in Christ's coming should stabilize you in productive labor, not excuse idleness. True eschatological faith produces present faithfulness.
