

2 Thessalonians 3:9

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Not because we have not power, but to make ourselves an ensample unto you to follow us.

Analysis

Not because we have not power, but to make ourselves an ensample unto you to follow us—Not because we have not power (ouch hoti ouk echomen exousian, οὐχ ὅτι οὐκ ἔχομεν ἐξουσίαν)—Paul had apostolic exousia (ἐξουσία, authority/right) to receive financial support (1 Cor. 9:4-14). He voluntarily waived this right.

Purpose: to make ourselves an ensample (typon, τύπον, pattern/model) unto you to follow us (mimēsthai hēmas, μιμεῖσθαι ἡμᾶς). Renouncing rights for others' benefit models Christlike servanthood. Paul could demand support but chose sacrifice to provide an imitable pattern. Christian liberty includes the freedom to limit freedom for love's sake.

Historical Context

The Jerusalem Council (Acts 15) recognized Paul's apostolic authority, which included financial support rights. Paul exercised apostolic privilege by renouncing it—a paradoxical power display. By working, he preemptively silenced accusations of greed common against traveling teachers.
