

2 Timothy 1:4

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Greatly desiring to see thee, being mindful of thy tears, that I may be filled with joy;

Analysis

---

Greatly desiring to see thee, being mindful of thy tears, that I may be filled with joy. Paul expresses intense longing through epipothōn (ἐπιποθῶν), denoting earnest, continuous yearning—not casual desire but profound spiritual and emotional hunger. This deep affection, forged through shared ministry and suffering, reveals authentic emotional intimacy possible in Christian friendship. Paul's longing demonstrates that godliness doesn't suppress legitimate human emotions but sanctifies them.

The reference to Timothy's "tears" (dakryōn, δακρύων) likely recalls their last farewell when Timothy wept at Paul's departure (compare Acts 20:37-38). These tears weren't weakness but appropriate godly sorrow. Paul's sensitivity to remember these tears demonstrates pastoral attentiveness and emotional intelligence—he knows Timothy's heart and validates his disciple's affection.

Paul anticipates being "filled with joy" (chara plērōthō, χαρὰ πληρωθῶ) upon reunion. Christian joy differs from circumstantial happiness: it's deeper, based on gospel realities, and coexists with suffering. Paul, facing execution, finds joy in Timothy's spiritual wellbeing, demonstrating that Christian joy rests in God's work in others and Christ's glory, not personal circumstances.

Historical Context

---

Ancient letter-writing conventions included expressions of longing, but Paul's emotional intensity exceeds formality. Given this is likely Paul's final letter before martyrdom (4:6-8), his desire carries special poignancy. The honor-shame culture made public displays of male emotion less common. Paul's vulnerability in mentioning tears and expressing deep longing would have been countercultural, demonstrating that the gospel transforms masculine identity to include tender affection and emotional honesty without compromising strength.

Related Passages

---

1 John 4:8 — God is love

John 15:13 — Greatest form of love

Study Questions

---

1. Who shares this depth of spiritual friendship with you, and how can you intentionally deepen such relationships?
2. How comfortable are you expressing godly emotion—tears, joy, longing—in Christian relationships?
3. Where do you seek joy, and how can you increasingly find it in others' spiritual growth rather than personal circumstances?

Interlinear Text

---

ἐπιποθῶν	σε	ἰδεῖν	μεμνημένος	σου	τῶν	δακρύων	ἵνα
Greatly desiring	thee	to see	being mindful	of thy	G3588	tears	that
G1971	G4571	G1492	G3415	G4675		G1144	G2443

χαρᾶς	πληρωθῶ
with joy	I may be filled
G5479	G4137

Additional Cross-References

---

2 Timothy 4:9 (Parallel theme): Do thy diligence to come shortly unto me:

2 Timothy 4:21 (Parallel theme): Do thy diligence to come before winter. Eubulus greeteth thee, and Pudens, and Linus, and Claudia, and all the brethren.

Philippians 1:8 (Parallel theme): For God is my record, how greatly I long after you all in the bowels of Jesus Christ.

---

From KJV Study • kjevstudy.org