

Acts 10:2

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

A devout man, and one that feared God with all his house, which gave much alms to the people, and prayed to God alway.

Analysis

Cornelius was 'devout' and 'feared God with all his house' - a God-fearer, attracted to Judaism without full conversion. His 'alms to the people' and continual prayer showed genuine piety. Yet this moral excellence couldn't save him apart from Christ (Acts 11:14).

Historical Context

God-fearers were Gentiles who attended synagogues, kept basic Jewish ethics, but didn't undergo circumcision. They formed a receptive audience for the gospel throughout Paul's missionary journeys.

Study Questions

---

1. Why couldn't Cornelius's evident piety save him without the gospel?
2. What does this teach about the relationship between morality and salvation?
