

Acts 11:15

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And as I began to speak, the Holy Ghost fell on them, as on us at the beginning.

Analysis

Peter reported to the Jerusalem church: 'as I began to speak, the Holy Ghost fell on them, as on us at the beginning.' The comparison to Pentecost ('the beginning') demonstrated that Gentiles received the identical Spirit as the first Jewish believers. Peter's testimony emphasized God's sovereign action - the Spirit fell while Peter was speaking, not after lengthy teaching or ritual. From a Reformed perspective, this vindicates the doctrine that the Spirit sovereignly regenerates whom He wills, when He wills. The parallel to Pentecost proved Gentile inclusion in the new covenant church.

Historical Context

Peter's report occurred circa AD 40-41 in Jerusalem after returning from Caesarea. The Jerusalem church initially criticized Peter for eating with Gentiles (v.3) but his detailed testimony and the six witnesses (v.12) convinced them of God's work.

Study Questions

1. Why was the parallel to Pentecost essential for Jewish believers to accept Gentile inclusion?
2. What does the Spirit's sovereign timing teach about God's control of salvation?
3. How should undeniable evidence of God's work overcome our prejudices and traditions?
