

Acts 11:21

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And the hand of the Lord was with them: and a great number believed, and turned unto the Lord.

Analysis

Luke reports: 'the hand of the Lord was with them: and a great number believed, and turned unto the Lord.' The 'hand of the Lord' signifies divine power and blessing on their ministry. The twofold response - believing and turning - describes conversion: faith in the gospel and repentance toward God. The 'great number' shows God's sovereign election extends to many among the Gentiles. Reformed theology sees effective calling here - the Spirit working through gospel preaching to grant faith and repentance to the elect. Human preaching is instrumental; God's power is effectual.

Historical Context

This Gentile harvest in Antioch circa AD 40-42 established the church that would send Paul and Barnabas on missionary journeys (Acts 13:1-3). Antioch became the center of Gentile Christianity, rivaling Jerusalem's role as center of Jewish Christianity.

Study Questions

1. What does the 'hand of the Lord' being with preachers accomplish that human effort alone cannot?
2. How does this passage demonstrate that both faith and repentance are necessary for salvation?
3. Why does successful evangelism always indicate God's sovereign work, not merely human technique?
