

Acts 13:10

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And said, O full of all subtilty and all mischief, thou child of the devil, thou enemy of all righteousness, wilt thou not cease to pervert the right ways of the Lord?

Analysis

Paul confronted Elymas: 'O full of all subtilty and all mischief, thou child of the devil, thou enemy of all righteousness, wilt thou not cease to pervert the right ways of the Lord?' Paul's severe rebuke exposed Elymas's character - full of deceit and wickedness, a spiritual son of Satan opposing God's purposes. The phrase 'child of the devil' contrasts with God's children, showing spiritual paternity through resemblance of character. Reformed theology recognizes spiritual warfare against those who oppose the gospel through deception. Paul's boldness in confronting evil demonstrates the Spirit's empowerment to expose and oppose darkness.

Historical Context

Elymas (Bar-Jesus) was a Jewish false prophet and sorcerer in the court of Sergius Paulus, Cyprus's proconsul. His opposition to Paul and Barnabas circa AD 47-48 represents Satan's resistance to the gospel reaching Gentile authorities. Paul's confrontation won the proconsul to faith (v.12).
