

Acts 16:15

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And when she was baptized, and her household, she besought us, saying, If ye have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come into my house, and abide there. And she constrained us.

Analysis

Lydia's conversion demonstrates God's sovereign grace - 'whose heart the Lord opened, that she attended unto the things which were spoken of Paul.' Divine initiative precedes human response; God opens hearts to enable faith. Lydia's immediate response - baptism and hospitality - shows genuine conversion produces both public identification and practical generosity.

Historical Context

Lydia was a 'seller of purple' from Thyatira, indicating substantial wealth (purple dye was expensive). Her conversion brought resources and leadership to the fledgling Philippian church, showing how God strategically converts those positioned to advance His kingdom.
