

Acts 2:3

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And there appeared unto them cloven tongues like as of fire, and it sat upon each of them.

Analysis

The 'cloven tongues like as of fire' (Greek: diamerizomenai glōssai hōsei pyros) represent the visible manifestation of the Holy Spirit's descent at Pentecost. Fire symbolizes God's purifying presence throughout Scripture (Exodus 3:2, Isaiah 6:6-7), while the divided tongues signify the Spirit's distribution to each believer individually. This fulfills both John the Baptist's prophecy that Jesus would baptize with the Holy Spirit and fire (Luke 3:16) and Christ's promise of the Comforter's coming. The Spirit's visible appearance authenticated the birth of the Church and empowered the apostles for their worldwide mission.

Historical Context

Occurred on the Jewish feast of Pentecost (Shavuot), fifty days after Passover, circa AD 30 or 33. This feast commemorated God's giving of the Law at Sinai, where fire also appeared (Exodus 19:18), creating a deliberate parallel between the Old and New Covenants. The 120 disciples were gathered in Jerusalem's upper room, likely near the Temple where thousands of Jewish pilgrims had assembled for the festival.
