

Acts 2:41

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Then they that gladly received his word were baptized: and the same day there were added unto them about three thousand souls.

Analysis

The response - 'they that gladly received his word were baptized' - indicates true conversion requires willing reception, not coercion. The Greek 'apodexamenoi' (gladly received) suggests enthusiastic embrace, not reluctant assent. 'About three thousand souls' added in one day demonstrates Spirit's sovereign power to produce mass conversions while maintaining individual agency. This validates apostolic preaching's supernatural effectiveness.

Historical Context

Three thousand converts from one sermon contrasts sharply with Moses' golden calf judgment - three thousand died (Exodus 32:28). Pentecost reverses Sinai's death sentence through gospel power. The number also fulfills Ezekiel's vision of dead bones receiving life (Ezekiel 37), Israel's restoration beginning.

Study Questions

---

1. What does three thousand conversions in one day teach about God's power in evangelism?
2. How does Pentecost's harvest contrast with Sinai's judgment, revealing law versus gospel?
