

Acts 20:28

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood.

Analysis

Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood—Paul's charge to Ephesian elders combines pastoral authority, responsibility, and motivation. Take heed... unto yourselves prioritizes leaders' spiritual health before ministry. The Holy Ghost hath made you overseers (ἐπισκόπους) establishes divine appointment, not human ambition, as pastoral authority's source. To feed (ποιμαίνειν, 'shepherd') defines pastoral work as nourishing, guiding, protecting. Church of God, which he purchased with his own blood grounds pastoral urgency in the cross—shepherds serve blood-bought people. The phrase 'his own blood' remarkably attributes blood-shedding to God, affirming Christ's deity.

Historical Context

Paul's farewell address to Ephesian elders at Miletus (circa 57 AD), during his final journey to Jerusalem. He knew imprisonment awaited (v.23) and expected never to see them again (v.25). The 'savage wolves' warning (v.29) proved prophetic—false teachers later infiltrated Ephesus (1 Timothy 1:3-7, 2 Timothy 1:15). This speech models pastoral succession and leader accountability.

Study Questions

1. How does remembering the church's blood-purchase affect pastoral priorities and methods?
2. What does the Holy Spirit's appointment of overseers teach about church governance?
