

Acts 23:32

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

On the morrow they left the horsemen to go with him, and returned to the castle:

Analysis

On the morrow they left the horsemen to go with him—the 200 infantry and 200 spearmen returned to Jerusalem while 70 cavalry continued to Caesarea. This tactical shift reflects Roman military doctrine: the greatest ambush danger lay near Jerusalem in Judean hills; once reaching the coastal plain, mounted troops sufficed. The phrase returned to the castle (parembolēn, παρεμβολήν, garrison) refers to the Antonia Fortress. This military detail demonstrates Luke's precise knowledge of Roman procedures and the seriousness with which Lysias took the assassination threat.

Historical Context

The route from Jerusalem to Caesarea descended from 2,500 feet elevation through dangerous terrain before reaching the coastal highway. Roman military escorts adjusted force composition based on threat assessment—standard operating procedure for prisoner transfers.

Study Questions

1. How does this military precision reveal God's protecting hand over Paul's ministry?
2. What do the authorities' extraordinary security measures reveal about the intensity of opposition to the gospel?
