

Acts 26:20

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

But shewed first unto them of Damascus, and at Jerusalem, and throughout all the coasts of Judaea, and then to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turn to God, and do works meet for repentance.

Analysis

But shewed first unto them of Damascus, and at Jerusalem, and throughout all the coasts of Judaea, and then to the Gentiles—Paul's geographical progression fulfills Acts 1:8 ("Jerusalem, Judaea, Samaria, uttermost part"). Shewed (ἀπήγγελλον, apēngellon) means "proclaimed, announced," emphasizing public declaration. Paul's message had three components: repent (μετανοεῖν, metanoein—"change one's mind/direction"), turn to God (ἐπιστρέφειν ἐπὶ τὸν θεόν, epistrephein epi ton theon—"return, convert"), and do works meet for repentance (ἄξια τῆς μετανοίας ἔργα πράσσειν, axia tēs metanoias erga prassein). This echoes John the Baptist (Matthew 3:8) and James (2:17-26): genuine repentance produces visible transformation. Paul wasn't preaching bare orthodoxy but life-changing conversion.

Historical Context

Paul defends himself before Agrippa II (circa 59 AD) by summarizing 25+ years of ministry. Damascus (Acts 9:19-22), Jerusalem (Acts 9:26-29), Judea (Acts 9:32-11:18), then Gentile mission (Acts 13-20) traces his actual itinerary. This chronology answers Jewish accusations: Paul didn't abandon Judaism but fulfilled it by bringing Gentiles into covenant promises (Acts 26:6-7, 22-23).

Study Questions

1. How do "works meet for repentance" differ from works-based salvation, and what evidence shows genuine conversion in your life?
2. Paul's ministry moved from familiar (Damascus Jews) to foreign (Gentiles)—where is God calling you beyond your comfort zone?
