

Acts 5:10

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Then fell she down straightway at his feet, and yielded up the ghost: and the young men came in, and found her dead, and, carrying her forth, buried her by her husband.

Analysis

Sapphira's death - 'Then fell she down straightway at his feet, and yielded up the ghost' - mirrored her husband's, confirming divine judgment pattern. The Greek 'parachrēma' (straightway) emphasizes immediacy. The phrase 'at his feet' - where she should have humbly confessed - she instead died in deception. The young men finding her dead 'carried her forth, and buried her by her husband' suggests joint grave, eternally linking them in judgment as they were linked in sin. This parallel judgment emphasized that both bore equal guilt.

Historical Context

That young men 'found her dead' before touching her prevented them from ritual impurity through contact with dead body. Her burial beside Ananias followed Jewish custom of family tombs while serving as perpetual warning. Early church fathers cited this account extensively as warning against hypocrisy.
