

Acts 8:35

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same scripture, and preached unto him Jesus.

Analysis

Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same scripture, and preached unto him Jesus—Philip's evangelistic method demonstrates Christ-centered Old Testament interpretation. Beginning with Isaiah 53's suffering servant passage (vv.32-33), Philip showed how Jesus fulfilled this prophecy. The Greek 'euēngelisato' (preached good news) indicates Philip declared Christ's death, resurrection, and salvific significance. Began at the same scripture models contextual evangelism—starting where the seeker is, then leading to Christ. This exemplifies Jesus' post-resurrection exposition (Luke 24:27) and Paul's hermeneutic that all Scripture testifies to Christ.

Historical Context

Philip, one of the seven deacons (6:5), was conducting evangelistic ministry in Samaria when the Spirit directed him to intercept the Ethiopian eunuch's chariot on the Gaza road. The eunuch, likely a God-fearer (Gentile attracted to Judaism), was reading Isaiah's scroll—an expensive possession indicating wealth and religious devotion. His question 'of whom speaketh the prophet?' (v.34) opened the door for Philip's gospel presentation.
