

Colossians 2:6

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in him:

Analysis

As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in him. This pivotal verse establishes the epistle's practical section. "Received" (parelabete, παρελάβετε) refers to accepting apostolic tradition—Christ Jesus as Lord (sovereign ruler), not merely helpful teacher or mystical guide. Initial reception determines ongoing conduct; conversion establishes pattern for sanctification. The gospel received at conversion contains everything needed for lifelong faithfulness.

"Walk in him" (peripateite en autō, περιπατεῖτε ἐν αὐτῷ) means continuous daily conduct within the sphere of union with Christ. Present imperative indicates ongoing command: keep walking as you began walking. The Colossian heresy suggested that simple faith in Christ initiated spiritual life but advanced techniques enabled progress. Paul counters: walk the same way you started—by faith in Christ's sufficiency, not supplementary methods.

Historical Context

Ancient mystery religions typically featured progressive stages: initial purification, intermediate instruction, advanced revelation. The Colossian teaching apparently proposed similar stages, treating faith in Christ as elementary step requiring supplementation for spiritual maturity. Paul demolishes such thinking: Christ is both starting point and entire path. Mature faith deepens understanding and application of Christ, not abandoning Him for advanced techniques.

Study Questions

1. Have you added requirements to Christ that weren't part of your conversion—special experiences, knowledge, or practices?
2. How does your current spiritual life compare to your initial conversion—same foundation or different approach?
3. What does 'walking in Christ' look like practically in daily decisions, relationships, and priorities?
