

Colossians 4:3

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Withal praying also for us, that God would open unto us a door of utterance, to speak the mystery of Christ, for which I am also in bonds:

Analysis

Withal praying also for us, that God would open unto us a door of utterance, to speak the mystery of Christ, for which I am also in bonds. Paul requests personal prayer support. "Praying also for us" (proseuchomenoi hama kai peri hēmōn, προσευχόμενοι ἅμα καὶ περὶ ἡμῶν) asks Colossians to intercede for Paul's missionary team. Despite imprisonment, Paul prioritizes gospel advance, not personal comfort or release.

"That God would open unto us a door of utterance" (hina ho theos anoixē hēmin thyran tou logou, ἵνα ὁ Θεὸς ἀνοίξῃ ἡμῖν θύραν τοῦ λόγου) requests opportunity to proclaim the gospel. "To speak the mystery of Christ" (lalēsai to mystērion tou Christou, λαλῆσαι τὸ μυστήριον τοῦ Χριστοῦ) identifies message: Christ's person and work, especially Gentile inclusion. "For which I am also in bonds" (di' ho kai dedemai, δι' ὁ καὶ δέδεμαι) acknowledges his imprisonment's cause—proclaiming Christ brought persecution, yet Paul prioritizes continued witness over safety.

Historical Context

Paul wrote from Roman imprisonment, likely chained to guards (Acts 28:16, 20). Despite restricted freedom, he continued preaching to visitors and guards (Philippians 1:12-14). His prayer request—not for release but for opportunity—demonstrates missionary passion transcending circumstances. Early Christianity spread partly through imprisoned believers witnessing to guards, fellow prisoners, and visitors, turning prisons into unlikely mission fields.

Study Questions

1. For whom do you pray regularly—personal concerns or gospel workers needing prayer support?
2. How do you respond to limitations—accepting defeat or seeking opportunities within constraints?
3. What would change if your primary prayer was for gospel advancement rather than personal comfort?
