

Daniel 8:13

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Then I heard one saint speaking, and another saint said unto that certain saint which spake, How long shall be the vision concerning the daily sacrifice, and the transgression of desolation, to give both the sanctuary and the host to be trodden under foot?

Analysis

Daniel hears angelic dialogue—"one saint" (holy one) asking "another saint" how long these desecrations will last. The Hebrew qadosh (קֹדֶשׁ, "saint" or "holy one") refers to angels, revealing celestial interest in earthly persecution of God's people. Angels don't know all things; they learn through observation and inquiry. Their question demonstrates that even heavenly beings wonder at God's timing in allowing evil to prosper temporarily.

The question concerns "the vision...the daily sacrifice, and the transgression of desolation, to give both the sanctuary and the host to be trodden under foot." This comprehensive query encompasses: the vision's duration, cessation of worship, the abomination ("transgression of desolation"), temple desecration, and persecution of God's people. The phrase "trodden under foot" emphasizes humiliation and contempt—not merely conquering but degrading what is sacred to God.

Theologically, this verse reveals that persecution puzzles even angels. Why does God allow His name to be profaned, His sanctuary polluted, His people oppressed? The answer (verse 14) shows divine sovereignty setting limits on evil's duration. God permits temporary testing to purify His people, but He doesn't allow indefinite oppression. This foreshadows Christ's teaching that tribulation has divinely appointed limits (Mark 13:20), and points to His return when all oppression finally ends.

Historical Context

Angelic involvement in Israel's affairs appears throughout Daniel (9:21, 10:13, 10:21, 12:1). Michael the archangel particularly defends Israel. This dialogue reveals the unseen spiritual dimension behind earthly events—angels observe, inquire, and engage in cosmic conflict affecting God's people. The question's specificity about worship cessation and sanctuary defilement shows that angels care deeply about God's glory and His people's welfare. Their inquiry teaches that heaven mourns earth's injustice, even when divine purposes temporarily permit evil to prosper.

Study Questions

1. What does angelic puzzlement about persecution's duration teach us about trusting God's timing even when His purposes seem unclear?
2. How should knowing that angels observe our faithfulness during trials encourage perseverance when God's deliverance seems delayed?
3. In what ways does God's setting specific limits on evil's duration (verse 14) demonstrate His sovereignty even when He permits temporary persecution?
