

Deuteronomy 10:20

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Thou shalt fear the LORD thy God; him shalt thou serve, and to him shalt thou cleave, and swear by his name.

Analysis

---

Thou shalt fear the LORD thy God—The Hebrew yare (fear) combines reverential awe and obedient submission, not servile terror. This fear is relational, grounded in God's covenant character (v. 17-19). Him shalt thou serve (avad, serve/worship) demands exclusive allegiance. To him shalt thou cleave uses dabaq (cleave/cling), the same word for marital union (Genesis 2:24), depicting covenant intimacy and loyalty.

Swear by his name means invoking Yahweh as witness to oaths, affirming He alone is the ultimate authority and truth. Jesus's 'You cannot serve two masters' (Matthew 6:24) and His identification as the bridegroom (John 3:29) echo this covenantal exclusivity. Paul commands us to 'cleave' to Christ (Romans 12:9, using the Greek equivalent). The trilogy—fear, serve, cleave—defines total devotion that prefigures union with Christ.

Historical Context

Moses preached this on Moab's plains as Israel prepared to enter a land saturated with Baal worship and fertility cults. The command to 'cleave' to Yahweh alone anticipated the constant temptation toward syncretism that would plague Israel throughout the Judges and monarchy periods.

Study Questions

1. What competing allegiances (career, comfort, popularity) tempt you to divide your loyalty from 'cleaving' exclusively to Christ?
2. How does the marital imagery of 'cleaving' to God deepen your understanding of covenantal relationship with Christ?
