

Deuteronomy 10:22

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Thy fathers went down into Egypt with threescore and ten persons; and now the LORD thy God hath made thee as the stars of heaven for multitude.

Analysis

Thy fathers went down into Egypt with threescore and ten persons—the exact number recorded in Genesis 46:27 and Exodus 1:5. The Hebrew shiv'im nefesh (שְׁבַעִים נֶפֶשׁ) literally means 'seventy souls,' emphasizing the smallness of Jacob's household. Now the LORD thy God hath made thee as the stars of heaven for multitude—fulfilling God's covenant promise to Abraham (Genesis 15:5). The census in Numbers 1:46 recorded 603,550 fighting men, suggesting a total population over two million.

This verse climaxes Moses's rehearsal of God's faithfulness (10:12-22). From seventy to millions in four centuries demonstrates God's power to multiply what He blesses. The astronomical metaphor recalls both Abraham's promise and the impossibility of the fulfillment apart from divine intervention. Israel's existence itself was proof of covenant fidelity.

Historical Context

Moses delivered this sermon circa 1406 BC on the plains of Moab, forty years after the Exodus. The original seventy who went to Egypt (circa 1876 BC) included Jacob's sons and their families during the severe famine. The multiplication occurred during 430 years in Egypt (Exodus 12:40), initially prosperous under Joseph's influence, then oppressive under pharaohs who 'knew not Joseph.'
