

Deuteronomy 2:15

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

For indeed the hand of the LORD was against them, to destroy them from among the host, until they were consumed.

Analysis

---

The statement 'the hand of the LORD was against them, to destroy them from among the host' attributes the deaths explicitly to divine judgment, not merely natural causes. God's 'hand' signifies His active involvement—these weren't random deaths but purposeful removal of the rebellious generation. This severe language emphasizes sin's seriousness and God's holiness. Yet even judgment served redemptive purposes—clearing way for a faithful generation.

Historical Context

---

While some deaths occurred through natural wilderness hardships, specific judgments included Korah's rebellion (Numbers 16), plagues after various rebellions, and fiery serpents (Numbers 21). God's 'hand against them' encompassed both direct supernatural intervention and the natural consequences of living under His displeasure in a harsh environment.

Related Passages

---

1 John 4:8 — God is love

1 Corinthians 13:4 — Characteristics of love

Study Questions

---

1. How does recognizing God's active involvement in judgment shape your understanding of sin's gravity?
2. In what ways might current difficulties be divine discipline meant for redemptive purposes?

Interlinear Text

---

וְגַם	יָדוֹ	יְהוָה	יְהוָה	וְגַם	וְגַם
H1571	For indeed the hand	of the LORD	H1961	H0
	H3027	H3068
	לְהָמָם	מִקֵּרֶב	הַצֹּהֵר	וְגַם
was against them to destroy	them from among	the host	H5704
H2000	H7130	H4264
	תִּמְכָּם:
until they were consumed
H8552

Additional Cross-References

---

Psalms 106:26 (Parallel theme): Therefore he lifted up his hand against them, to overthrow them in the wilderness: