

Deuteronomy 28:52

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And he shall besiege thee in all thy gates, until thy high and fenced walls come down, wherein thou trustedst, throughout all thy land: and he shall besiege thee in all thy gates throughout all thy land, which the LORD thy God hath given thee.

Analysis

And he shall besiege thee in all thy gates—Hebrew ṣûr (צור) describes a strangling siege cutting off all supplies. The repetition of all thy gates twice emphasizes total encirclement. Thy high and fenced walls come down, wherein thou trustedst—the verb bāṭaḥ (בָּטַח, 'trusted') is devastating: Israel would trust in walls (military might) rather than in God.

This prophesies both the Babylonian and Roman sieges with precision. Babylon breached Jerusalem's walls in 586 BC after 18 months (2 Kings 25:1-4). Rome surrounded Jerusalem with a siege wall in AD 70, starving the city before destroying the temple. The phrase throughout all thy land means no city would escape—every fortified place would fall. Archaeological remains of Lachish show Assyrian siege ramps fulfilling this very prophecy.

Historical Context

Ancient Near Eastern sieges were horrific—armies surrounded cities, cut off food and water, and waited for starvation. The Babylonian siege of Jerusalem saw conditions so desperate that cannibalism occurred (see v. 53). The Roman siege was equally brutal, with Josephus recording that over 600,000 bodies were thrown from the walls.
