

Deuteronomy 30:20

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

That thou mayest love the LORD thy God, and that thou mayest obey his voice, and that thou mayest cleave unto him: for he is thy life, and the length of thy days: that thou mayest dwell in the land which the LORD sware unto thy fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, to give them.

Analysis

Moses commands: 'That thou mayest love the LORD thy God, and that thou mayest obey his voice, and that thou mayest cleave unto him: for he is thy life, and the length of thy days: that thou mayest dwell in the land which the LORD sware unto thy fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, to give them.' Three imperatives—love, obey, cleave—define covenant relationship. The Hebrew dabaq (cleave) describes marriage-like intimacy (Genesis 2:24), suggesting exclusive devotion. The rationale: 'he is thy life'—God isn't merely life-giver but life itself. Relationship with Him is the essence of existence, not merely one aspect of it.

Historical Context

This verse concludes Moses' covenant renewal address. The three imperatives—love, obey, cleave—summarize the entire law. Jesus quoted Deuteronomy 6:5 as the greatest commandment (Matthew 22:37), showing these themes' centrality. Israel's tragedy was repeatedly violating this—loving other gods, disobeying commands, cleaving to idols. The exile fulfilled the warning—failure to cleave to God meant expulsion from the land. New Testament believers experience this through union with Christ (John 15:4-5).
