

Deuteronomy 5:11

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Thou shalt not take the name of the LORD thy God in vain: for the LORD will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain.

Analysis

The third commandment prohibits taking God's name 'in vain' (Hebrew 'la-shav'—emptiness, worthlessness, falsehood). This encompasses far more than crude profanity—it prohibits flippant, careless, or false invocation of God's name in oaths, worship, or daily speech. God's name represents His character, reputation, and covenant presence. Misusing His name dishonors Him and profanes holy things. The severe warning 'the LORD will not hold him guiltless' indicates certain judgment. This commandment demands reverence in all God-talk, prayer, worship, and oath-taking. Only those who fear God guard His name carefully.

Historical Context

Ancient Near Eastern cultures invoked deity names in oaths, curses, and business transactions. Israel was commanded to swear truthfully by Yahweh's name (Deuteronomy 6:13, 10:20), not falsely or by pagan gods. Violations included: false prophets claiming 'thus says the LORD' (Jeremiah 14:14), priests profaning God's name (Malachi 1:6), and people swearing falsely (Leviticus 19:12, Zechariah 5:4). Jesus extends this command, prohibiting oath-swearers altogether (Matthew 5:33-37), demanding simple truthfulness.
