

Deuteronomy 5:16

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Honour thy father and thy mother, as the LORD thy God hath commanded thee; that thy days may be prolonged, and that it may go well with thee, in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee.

Analysis

The fifth commandment 'Honour thy father and thy mother' establishes family order and generational responsibility. The Hebrew 'kaved' (honor) means to give weight, respect, and care. This is the first commandment 'with promise'—obedience brings long life and prosperity in the land (Ephesians 6:2-3). Honoring parents extends beyond childhood obedience to lifelong respect, care in old age, and perpetuating godly heritage. This command upholds family structure as foundational to societal order. Christ's perfect obedience to His parents (Luke 2:51) models this virtue.

Historical Context

Ancient Near Eastern cultures valued honor toward parents, but Israel's law uniquely grounded it in divine command. Severe penalties for striking or cursing parents (Exodus 21:15, 17) demonstrated this commandment's gravity. Honoring parents included providing material support in old age, respecting their authority, and preserving family reputation. Jesus condemned Pharisees who used religious loopholes (Corban) to avoid supporting elderly parents (Mark 7:9-13).
