

Deuteronomy 7:21

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Thou shalt not be affrighted at them: for the LORD thy God is among you, a mighty God and terrible.

Analysis

The command 'Thou shalt not be affrighted' (literally 'shattered with terror') is grounded in God's presence: 'the LORD thy God is among you.' Divine presence is the antidote to fear. God's character is described as 'mighty God and terrible'—El gadol venora (great and awesome God). This isn't terrifying in the sense of capricious danger but awe-inspiring in power and holiness. The same God who is terrible to enemies is refuge to His people. Emmanuel—'God with us' (Matthew 1:23)—fulfills this promise supremely in Christ's incarnation. The Holy Spirit's indwelling means God's presence is even more intimate for believers than for Israel (John 14:16-17). Perfect love casts out fear (1 John 4:18) because God's presence guarantees victory.

Historical Context

God's presence with Israel was manifested through the pillar of cloud/fire (Exodus 13:21-22), the glory in the tabernacle (Exodus 40:34-38), and victories in battle (Joshua 10:10-14). When God's presence departed due to sin (Ichabod, 1 Samuel 4:21), defeat followed. God's presence was Israel's unique advantage—not military might, technology, or numbers. The ark of the covenant symbolized God's presence going before them in battle (Numbers 10:35-36; Joshua 3:1-17). Christ promised His presence 'where two or three are gathered' (Matthew 18:20) and 'even unto the end of the world' (Matthew 28:20).
