

Deuteronomy 7:25

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

The graven images of their gods shall ye burn with fire: thou shalt not desire the silver or gold that is on them, nor take it unto thee, lest thou be snared therein: for it is an abomination to the LORD thy God.

Analysis

The command to burn graven images and reject the precious metals adorning them addresses the temptation of materialism in spiritual warfare. The silver and gold on idols could rationalize preserving them ('just for the valuable material'), but God prohibits this. 'Lest thou be snared therein' shows how greed creates spiritual compromise. The language 'abomination to the LORD' (to'evat YHWH) expresses God's intense hatred of idolatry. This teaches that no material gain justifies compromise with evil. Achan's violation of this command (taking Babylonian garments and silver) brought judgment on all Israel (Joshua 7). In spiritual application, believers must reject not just obvious sin but anything that might 'snare'—seemingly harmless pleasures that lead to bondage (1 Corinthians 10:14).

Historical Context

Ancient idols were often overlaid with precious metals and jewels, making them valuable plunder. The temptation to preserve them for their material worth would have been strong, especially for a recently-enslaved people lacking wealth. God's command to destroy them completely demonstrated that covenant faithfulness supersedes economic advantage. Gideon's later violation (creating an ephod from captured gold, Judges 8:24-27) validated this warning—'it became a snare.' The golden calf incident (Exodus 32) showed Israel's susceptibility to this temptation.

Study Questions

1. What material gains tempt you toward spiritual compromise or association with evil?
2. How can seemingly 'innocent' possessions or pursuits become 'snares' leading to spiritual bondage?
3. In what ways should you apply the principle of burning (completely rejecting) rather than redeeming corrupt things?
