

Exodus 13:12

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

That thou shalt set apart unto the LORD all that openeth the matrix, and every firstling that cometh of a beast which thou hast; the males shall be the LORD'S.

Analysis

The command to 'set apart unto the LORD all that openeth the matrix' uses the same verb (avar, עָבַר) as 'pass over'—dedicating firstborn to God. The phrase 'every firstling that cometh of a beast' extends to livestock. The declaration 'the males shall be the LORD's' specifies gender—males represented strength and primary value in agrarian culture. Giving firstborn/firstlings acknowledges God's ownership of all.

Historical Context

This law created ongoing tribute to God for exodus deliverance. Firstborn animals were sacrificed; firstborn sons were redeemed with payment (Numbers 18:15-16).

Study Questions

1. How does dedicating 'all that openeth the womb' teach that God deserves the first and best, not leftovers?

2. What does God's claim on the firstborn teach about His rightful ownership of everything you have?
