

Exodus 14:21

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And Moses stretched out his hand over the sea; and the LORD caused the sea to go back by a strong east wind all that night, and made the sea dry land, and the waters were divided.

Analysis

Moses' obedience—'stretched out his hand over the sea'—activates God's power. The LORD's action: 'caused the sea to go back by a strong east wind all that night' combines supernatural and natural means. The 'strong east wind' (ruach qadim azah, רוח קדים עזה) was fierce enough to divide waters. The result: 'made the sea dry land, and the waters were divided' created a path through impossibility. God uses creation to accomplish redemption.

Historical Context

The timing 'all that night' while the cloud barrier held Egypt back allowed the sea floor to become dry enough for passage. The east wind from the desert was hot and powerful, capable of extraordinary effects.
