

Exodus 20:4

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth:

Analysis

Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth:

The second commandment prohibits 'graven images' (פֶּסֶל, pesel)—carved idols—and 'likeness' (תְּמוּנָה, temunah)—any representation. The comprehensive scope ('heaven, earth, water') bans all visual depictions of deity. Why? Because God is spirit, infinite, transcendent—reducing Him to material form inevitably distorts Him. The command protects God's glory from human reduction. The three-tiered cosmos ('above, beneath, under') encompasses all creation—nothing created can represent Creator. Israel's imageless worship stood alone in the ancient world. Even Christian images, while not idols, risk reducing transcendent God to manageable forms. The Word-centered Reformation recovered this emphasis.

Historical Context

Ancient Near Eastern worship was intensely visual—statues, images, sacred poles. Israel's aniconism (worship without images) was revolutionary, forcing reliance on God's word rather than visual aids.

Study Questions

1. Why does God prohibit visual representations of Himself—what distortions result from trying to depict deity?
2. How might Christians violate this command even without bowing to physical idols?
